Experience the Ultimate Collaboration Ecosystem

eEE aligns employees, third-party staff & gig workers to targets, digitizes collaboration & engages workforce to a secured omni-channel collaboration platform. From options to create a custom communication units (posts & broadcasts) to push email notification, here's what makes eEE your ultimate employee experience ecosystem.

The Native Engagement Dashboards that gives the administrator the ability to get a detailed snapshot of how your ecosystem is performing. With eEE, admins can view native reports and dashboards of significant statistics about the popular post & broadcasts - availing priceless insight into the user's mind-share as well as their heart-share.

The Hierarchy-based access in the eEE help managers & supervisors to track the engagement levels of their employees in their team. Built-in data access controls in the platform ensures that the supervisor can see the data for their team members only allowing them to focus on their own team's engagement for better results.

The Two-way documents sharing enables both admins and end-users to seamlessly share information. While admins can upload important information & documents for the end users, the end users themselves can share documents by uploading them onto their eEE page. This feature will allow admins to securely circulate announcements, datasheets, product documentation & certificates.

The Push email notifications helps admins & end-users notify their audience & followers will now receive email & push notifications for various scheduled events, promotion programs & incentive campaigns & any relevant information that they might need. These notifications can be tailor-made for its messaging & frequency as per end-user requirement. Regular updates via notifications & email help users stay in loop to actively participate in relevant events & activities.

The Voice notifications & comments is an awesome tool that helps your employees express their point of views to embrace innovation & ideation.
